Secretary Morgenthau

Testifying before the house foreign affairs committee on the president's lend-lease bill, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., told his listeners that the British have slightly more than $3,000,000,000 to finance this year's munitions orders in America, "but to pay for anything like what they need, they just haven't got it."

PLANES HUNTING MISSING BOMBER

Twin-Motored Ship, With Seven Aboard Last Seen At McChord Field

McCHORD FIELD, Wash., Jan. 17.—The army air corps western units mobilized today to search through a vast territory in four states for a twin-motored bomber, missing with seven men aboard.

The B-18A Douglas war bird vanished yesterday on a training flight from its McChord field base to the Murco bombing range in southern California's Mojave desert. It did not carry bombs.

It left here under favorable visibility conditions at 10:20 a. m. PST yesterday under orders to stop at Sacramento, Calif., an estimated four hours later. No radio report was received from the ship after it left here. It did not reach Sacramento.

Aboard the bomber were:

First Lieut. R. M. Krummes, pilot; Second Lieut. C. T. Nielsen, co-pilot; Second Lieut. J. F. Gels, navigator; First Lieut. L. E. Mackay, Technical Sergeant H. A. Davis; Sergeant L. H. Neitling; Sergeant P. L. Maas.

RAF BOMBERS LASH GERMAN COAST BASES

Thrust Follows Nazi Torch Raiders' Night Assault On Bristol

MALTA ATTACKED BY DIVE BOMBERS

Hit at British Plane Carrier Again; Reports On Raid Differ

(By Associated Press) British bombers roared across the channel to pay a daylight "visit" to Nazi bases along the French coast this afternoon, and heavy explosions were heard soon after they disappeared in the mist shrouding the strait of Dover.

The thrust followed intensive overnight assaults, in which German "torch raiders" set 100 fires at Bristol, England—one of the main ports of entry for United States war supplies—while RAF squadrons again blasted the big German naval base at Wilhelmshaven in a "highly successful" attack.

41st Attack of War It was the second smash at Wilhelmshaven, base of the German North sea fleet, in 24 hours and the 41st since the war began.

British authorities at Malta, island citadel in the Mediterranean, said 10 Axis planes were shot down in a tempestuous dive-bombing raid on the harbor and city yesterday, with three others damaged.

In contrast to official German and Italian reports of the attack, the British said little damage of military importance was inflicted as British machine-guns chattered from rooftops and windows at the low-flying raiders.

Hitler's high command reported Nazi dive-bombers renewed their efforts to sink the British aircraft carrier, Illustrious, already crippled in a furious attack off Sicily Jan. 10, striking at the 23,000-ton vessel as it awaited repairs at the port of Valletta, Malta.

The Nazi high command said "several direct hits" were scored on the Illustrious, and informed German quarters declared the craft was now so badly damaged she would probably be knocked out of the war.

"Furthermore, numerous bombs struck the Malta arsenal," a Nazi communiqué said, "and a merchantman was struck directly by the heaviest calibre bombs."

Two Ships in Distress During the night distress signals crackled out of the north Atlantic from two large British ships: the 14,335-ton passenger liner Alameda Star and the 10,578-ton freighter Zealandia.

The "SSS" signal from both ships—meaning "attacked by submarine"—came from the same

SYPHILIS TRACES SHOWN BY 1 IN 50

COLUMBUS, Jan. 17.—Slightly more than one out of each 50 Ohio army selectees show positive traces of syphilis, State Health Director R. H. Markwith reported today.

Dr. Markwith said blood tests of 20,296 men gave 425 positive reactions. This equaled 2.09 per cent, slightly under the 2.3 per cent average for other states of similar size and geographical location.

Greatest incidence was among Negroes. Of 987 examined in state laboratories, 138, or 13.9 per cent were listed as positive. Only 287 or 14.8 per cent of 19,309 whites showed similar results.

Dr. Markwith said the disease was "about equally distributed" throughout the state from a population standpoint. The Kahn and Kline tests are utilized.

Wendell L. Willkie Sees Threat to U. S. "Free Way of Life"

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Wendell L. Willkie is convinced that if Great Britain collapses, the "free way of life" will pass from America. He urged all Americans to give President Roosevelt all the power he needs, "so that we can debate with him again in another free election," when called from the audience of "America's town meeting of the air" to comment upon Socialist Leader Norman Thomas' opposition to the President's "lease-lend" proposal for aid to Britain.

"If I believed that Britain could collapse and America could survive economically," he said, "then I would not take a single risk in involving this country in any international entanglements. But if on the other hand I believe, as I do believe, that if Britain collapses within a few years the free way of life will pass from America, then even I who opposed the election of Franklin Roosevelt with all my being would grant to him such extraordinary powers."

He spoke extemporaneously last night after a debate between Thomas and Dr. Frank Kingdon, chairman of the New York chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Thomas took the position that the "lease-lend" bill would "set up a dictatorship in the United States and authorize the dictator to wage undeclared war with whatever enemy he selects."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Republican opponents of President Roosevelt's foreign policy contended today that Wendell L. Willkie's endorsement of the administration's lease-lend British aid bill had weakened his chance of picking the new chairman of the Republican national committee.

BASKETBALL TILT IS HALTED BY FLU

Approximately 650 Students, Principal, Seven Teachers Are Ill

The Salem-East Palestine High school basketball game, scheduled for tonight, was postponed by school authorities today as additional students were reported ill from colds and influenza attacks.

No future date for the East Palestine game, which was to have been played on the local floor, has been set. There were no indications today that the Warren-Salem game here Tuesday night would be cancelled.

"Flu" and cold attacks kept approximately 650 Salem school students at home today.

Three high school instructors and Principal H. M. Williams are ill, along with teachers in the elementary school and one at Junior High, according to Supt. E. S. Kerr.

A total of 227 High school pupils out of an enrollment of 926 were reported absent from classes today. This represented a slight increase over the past few days.

The grade schools, apparently not affected as much by the influenza attacks, had a number of absentees, however. At Columbia Street school 50 out of 194 children were reported ill; McKinley school, 30 out of 130; Prospect school, 64 out of 200; Reilly, 62 out of 215, and St. Paul's parochial school, 40 out of 200.

At the Junior High school Principal B. G. Ludwig said 96 pupils were absent. About 435 are enrolled. Fourth Street school in the Junior High building had 91 out of 350 students absent today.

Albert Bateman, Jr., of Washington, Ind., was fined $10 and costs by Justice S. S. Weaver at Columbiana.

London? Yes—After Deadly German Fire Bombs Had Done Their Work

This is London, the British capital. It is a different London today, however, following terrible German air raids. Some sections of the city virtually were reduced to rubble and scattered masonry after German fire bombs spread their havoc. The picture, which graphically tells the story of what a bombing raid can do, has just reached the United States.

ATROCITY STORIES TRUE, SAYS SPEAKER

Dr. Francis S. Onderdonk, noted lecturer, traveler and authority on world affairs, addressed three groups here yesterday, describing world conditions, assailing cruelties of the Nazi war-makers and urging all possible aid for Great Britain.

He appeared before High school students in the morning, the Kiwanis club at noon and in the Methodist church Thursday evening.

Stories of the atrocities committed by both German and Japanese military powers in their drives for greater power and more territory are not purely propaganda, he emphasized, and he referred to records in the way of photographs and eye-witness reports, to support his assertion.

FAVOR ENLARGING HIGHWAY PATROL

Bricker Aids See Plan As Superior to Proposed Guard Organization

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Jan. 17.—A proposal that the state highway patrol be enlarged in lieu of establishing an Ohio state guard was reported today to be gaining favor in Gov. John W. Bricker's administration.

The governor told the legislature in his biennial message that it would be necessary to do one or the other, since the Ohio National Guard is now in the federal service outside the state.

"Floods, pestilence, riots, calamity of various sorts might befall us," he said, "which make the need imperative and the responsibility of this assembly is great."

In event the legislature should decide to expand the patrol, the governor said it also would be necessary to increase its authority. The patrol's activities now are restricted by law to matters relating to highways and traffic.

Governor Bricker and Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr were reported reliably to have looked with favor on the patrol idea for numerous reasons. The arguments included:

It would be less costly than creating a new guard, the expense of

JAPANESE ASSAIL HULL'S TESTIMONY

"Clear Challenge to Axis, Short of Ultimatum", Press Asserts

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, Jan. 17.—With the Japanese press already assailing Secretary Hull's testimony on United States defense needs as "a clear challenge to the Axis, short of an ultimatum," it was reported today that Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka was preparing to reply with a speech in parliament next Tuesday.

Moreover, Domei, Japanese news agency announced, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye soon will clarify for the public his cabinet's policies.

Testifying Wednesday before the house foreign affairs committee in Washington, the secretary of state asserted that danger to the United States would be "multiplied many fold" if Japan, Germany and Italy, signatories of an all-for-one and one-for-all military alliance, gained control of the high seas.

Pending any official presentation of Japan's attitude, the press singled out such statements by Hull for the bitterest criticism directed at Washington in many months.

Expressions in many Japanese quarters indicated that the secretary of state's remarks had produced deeper anxiety here than any development since Washington last October advised United States citizens to withdraw from the Orient.

It was indicated that high officials had debated most of today the advisability of making an immediate reply to Hull and then decided against it.

Assurances that the cabinet information bureau would issue a reply to Hull today fell through upon Domei's announcement tonight that none was forthcoming.

Inquiries an hour and a quarter earlier had brought the bureau's reply that a statement had been drafted and was being translated into English.

Lloyd Wire, 55, of New Middleton, received a back injury when the truck in which he was riding with his brother, Paul Wire, 46, of the same address, was struck by another truck on Route 90, three and one-half miles south of Poland at 8:30 a. m. Thursday.

Clifford Doll, 26, of R. D. 1, East Palestine, operator of the other vehicle, escaped unhurt. Both trucks landed in a ditch.

INAUGURAL CROWD INVADERS CAPITAL

Vanguard Throngs Washington for Ceremonies Monday

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The vanguard of a traditionally gay inaugural crowd began to throng the capital's broad avenues and marble halls today for a week-end of sight-seeing before witnessing President Roosevelt's third induction into office.

Although cold rain and sleet Wednesday night and Thursday left festoons of red, white and blue bunting on downtown stores limp and bedraggled, visitors hoped for clear skies during Monday's ceremonies.

Recall Soaking Rain

"There can't be another inauguration day as wet as the one four years ago," contended those who were soaked to the skin by a pelting rain throughout the first Jan. 20 inauguration.

It was taken for granted that Mr. Roosevelt would devote most of his inaugural address to defense and foreign problems.

Because of the international situation, the President asked that the inaugural program be kept simple. Instead of a grand ball, an "inaugural gala"—an entertainment by noted musicians and actors—will take place Sunday night. Preceding the gala will be a dinner for members of the electoral college. At the same time, state governors will talk over defense problems while dining with William Knudsen, co-director of the office of production management.

TEMPERS FLARE IN DEFENSE HEARING

Strong Words and Loud Voices Mark Study of Lease-Lend Measure

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Strong words and loud voices still are the order in the house committee considering the lease-lend bill.

Representative Tinkham (R-Mass.) started it off today by telling the witness, Secretary Stimson, that Stimson was opposed to anything in the bill "looking toward peace."

"Gross perversion," retorted Stimson.

Then Tinkham started to read comments on a radio address Stimson made last year.

Objects to "Interference"

Chairman Bloom (D-NY) objected but before he could say more, Tinkham, his face red, angrily turned to the New Yorker and said: "I'm not going to be interfered with any longer, that's all there is to it."

Representative Luther A. Johnson (D-Tex.) made the point of order that comment should not be read, and Bloom announced that "comments are barred out."

"Well, I'll make comments—I'm a member of the committee," Tinkham shouted.

In the confusion, Rep. Rogers (R-Mass.) started to ask a question, but Bloom jumped up to say, "the chair objects." Tinkham shot back, "Well, I don't object."

Representative Eaton (R-NJ.) arose to "protest against the inter-

CABINET AID UPHOLDS FDR POWER GRANT

Thinks Congress Could Safely Rest Responsibility With President

QUIZZED ON RUMOR OF NAVY PURCHASE

"Fantastic", He Says, of "Buying" of British and French Ships

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Secretary Stimson said today that no president had "rushed this country into war" and that congress could "safely rest" with Mr. Roosevelt the broad responsibilities proposed for him in the lease-lend program.

Discussing the program with the house foreign affairs committee, the war department chief was led by Representative Tinkham (R-Mass.) into a discussion of the discretion the President would have in determining nations whom the United States might aid.

Stimson prefaced his remarks by saying that he had observed closely many presidents and had been impressed with their sense of responsibility and asserted that no president had "rushed this country into war."

Responsibility Safe

"In the light of that," Stimson risk of naming the countries, I said, "while congress could take the think that they could safely rest the responsibility of that with the present President of the United States."

"Fantastic and preposterous" was Stimson's description of a suggestion that the lend-lease bill was so drawn as to permit purchase by this country of the British and French navies.

Tinkham read to the secretary a newspaper story which quoted unnamed persons as saying the bill purposely was drawn that way.

Tinkham inquired whether under the measure's "broad wording" such purchases could be made.

"I haven't considered it in that light," was the reply.

President Roosevelt at his press conference a bit later, said a provision to let the war and navy secretaries buy war materials from friendly nations was put in the bill as a precaution.

In a world of change, he told reporters, every 24 hours something might turn up to make it necessary to add to American defenses. Advis-

SOME HOLDS BARRED

President Roosevelt's sudden seizure of the bait placed by critics of his foreign policy is a better break than they expected. Overnight, he has magnified their influence a hundredfold by choosing to make an issue of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler's comment that the lease-lend bill would force the United States into war. No wonder Sen. Wheeler is jubilant; he was only a voice crying in the wilderness until the President answered him.

Apparently, there is going to be a blistering debate. Partisan opposition threatens to develop, adding its rancor to that already existing between interventionists and those who seem to take the position that the United States should hang its clothes next to John Bull's, but shouldn't go near the water. At the outset, there are a few things to be realized, some holds to be barred.

For one thing, personalities shouldn't be permitted to enter into the discussion. In a very literal sense, self-government is on trial. Unless both sides are willing to concede at the very beginning the sincerity of the opposition, the trial is bound to be a sad spectacle. The patriotism of the participants in the debate must not be questioned.

It will do no harm for responsible officials in Washington to take the people more deeply into their confidence than they have chosen to do so far. Plainly, this country is closer to war than spokesmen for the government have encouraged their listeners to believe. There can be no time better than the present to explore some of the fateful possibilities of American foreign policy, not only in the direction chosen by the Roosevelt administration but also in the direction apparently preferred by the administration's critics.

There is a right way to conduct a discussion of this kind and there is a wrong way. The right way is to argue as dispassionately as possible about the facts. The wrong way is to argue as passionately as possible about fancies. America never needed statesmen more than it needs them right now—and never needed ordinary politicians less.

LYING LOW

The lessons learned in a warring world won't be forgotten easily. An optimist even may hope that some day they may prove applicable to the care of the common cold.

For years the best advice of the best advisers has been to take cover and lie low at the first signs that the elusive virus was attempting an invasion. But it was difficult to do this under a regime of indifference discipline. Everybody, or almost everybody, found it easier to put up a brave front. There was a certain amount of shame that every able-bodied person felt at the thought of taking cover under anything but the most extreme necessity.

Aerial warfare teaches a different lesson. One never knows where the next blow will fall in a season of destruction. The ravager does not distinguish between high and low, fat and lean, brave and timid. He scatters the seeds of destruction with fine impartiality, leaving nothing for a sane person to do but play safe. There is no merit in putting up a brave front. The germs and the Germans do not care what front they strike; they don't even bother to look.

Perhaps the British, inured to discipline, will heed the experts and take cover from the common cold if and when it ever becomes a pest worth considering again. Americans, however, will continue to put up a brave front and pretend not to take the guardians of their security too seriously. When advised to take to their beds at the first sign of trouble, they will stay up just one day longer under the illusion that the way to fight a cold is to lead with the nose, instead of assuming a horizontal position.

SHARP CURVE AHEAD

Gov. Bricker's proposal for using part of the local share of auto license tag income as general revenue is one more flourish added to the handwriting on the wall. What the handwriting says is that the vested interests that have developed from the automobile industry, including the owners of automobiles, are going to have more and more trouble isolating revenue for their special benefit simply because it is derived from ownership and use of motor vehicles. For years the friends of the horseless carriage have been fighting a defensive battle. They can be thanked for hard-surfaced roads and most of the things that make automobiles possible, but the plain fact of the matter is so much money is involved that only a miracle will save them now.

The report of the Ohio tax and revenue commission authorized in 1938 pointed out that recognition should be given political sub-divisions for losses caused by removing motor vehicles from the property tax duplicate. Gov. Bricker's proposal seems to be a move in that direction. The angry protests that he anticipates and tries to answer by earmarking revenue from a permanent liquid fuel tax for highway purposes exclusively do not alter the fact that taxing automobile users for the exclusive benefit of automobile users is a challengeable principle of taxation that now is being challenged. Even the automobile users, who also pay other taxes, are beginning to suspect some of the money might be used advantageously in other places.

ONE DOWN, ONE UP

Latest engagement in the contest between warships and airplanes must be scored as a draw. Actually, it looks like a triumph for airplanes.

While most of the newspaper-reading world was thrilling to the belatedly released story of the aircraft carrier Illustrious staying afloat under a seven-hour attack by German dive bombers sent to the Mediterranean to save Italy, Great Britain was announcing quietly that the cruiser Southampton had to be scuttled when the dive bombers were through with it.

Undoubtedly there are men in the British navy who now know the answer to the question of whether or not airplanes have made warships obsolete. They are not free to speak now, but if they could speak they probably would have something of extreme importance to say about the fact the Illustrious was lucky to stay afloat and probably won't be of much use till repaired. In view of what is known about the damage planes have been able to do to surface ships—damage admitted by the British whose security is tied to their fleet—it looks as though a given number of ably maneuvered planes always could put a warship completely out of commission with a little luck and impair its usefulness seriously with scarcely any luck at all.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, January 18

A STATE of fluctuating fortunes is read from the conflicting planetary figure. It may be an extremely active and exciting day with high accomplishment, although much need of care in dealing with large corporations, political, diplomatic and fraternal bodies. In the domestic, romantic, artistic life things may work at crosspurposes, unless care be taken to preserve harmony.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of some conflict, although there should be unusual commotion and excitement. It would be well to use tact, diplomacy to offset duplicity, fraud and undercurrent attack, probably coming from high places. The purely personal life also requires preservation from clash and inharmonious.

A child born on this day should be extremely talented and ambitious although restless and fond of change. It may also encounter domestic difficulties.

Americans have taken the new year in stride. Everything is familiar and we feel pretty cozy. So what? So a shortage of mental preparedness against insecurity.

Those so-called 10 best-dressed women were selected by a dumb committee that overlooked your best girl.

THE NOT SO WONDERFUL "LAND OF OZ"

BABY WILL FRET OCCASIONALLY

Don't Be Too Quick to Blame Teeth, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
From time immemorial, the grandmother in the household has prepared for trouble when the baby began to "teethe". Anything that happened was blamed on the "teething". The list of conditions due to dentition occupied several pages in the old text-books on the care of infants, but as time has passed there have been more and more omissions, until now it is quite small. More careful examinations and critical analysis of cases have made teething of less and less importance until it hardly has any part in the modern pediatrician's vocabulary.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Now teething is a physiological process. It happens to everybody—and nature usually does not penalize us for performing perfectly natural functions in a normal manner. Nature does not pin on a hazard to a development in the body that is absolutely necessary to health and well being.

Cross Baby
The baby is cross and fretful. Well, all right. So what? The baby is also teething. So the crossness and fretfulness must be due to the teething. Well, suppose the baby is cross and fretful and it isn't teething? What are these perfectly natural reactions due to then? I would like to see the baby that wasn't cross and fretful some of the time.

The baby drools all the time. Isn't that terrible? It's because the teeth are coming in. It is not because of any such thing. It is because the salivary glands come to full development just as the teeth are coming in. That is when they are needed—nature planned it that way. The baby hasn't yet learned to control its saliva, so it drools. Some people never learn to control it, even after they get a full set of teeth, including the back ones.

Then give it a teething ring. So it can chew on the hard ring. Isn't that a swell idea? If your gums were sore it would help a lot to have a hard rubber ring to chew on, wouldn't it?

These very sensible ideas were suggested to me by a doctor far more experienced in baby handling than I am—Dr. Caldwell Summers—and they strike me as very sound.

The bugaboos of teething may stand in the way of really finding out what is the matter with a sick baby. The baby is sick, and the doctor is in a hurry, and somebody says the baby is teething, so the examination is over and everything is blamed on the teething. The real trouble may be a urinary infection, or ear infection, or something in the throat, or need of sunshine and a rearrangement of diet; it may be rickets or tetany. But the "teething" legend is accepted and a more thorough examination is put off.

The dentition rash of the skin often mentioned, is, in the experience of good children's specialists, a myth. It may be due to too much clothing, or improperly laundered clothing, or an irritating soap, or just plain uncleanliness.

Rubbing the gums where the tooth is erupting doesn't hasten the eruption of the tooth any more than rubbing an egg will hasten the hatching of a chicken.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. J.: "What is the difference between phlebitis and thrombosis?"

Answer—Phlebitis is thrombosis of a vein. Thrombosis simply means the clotting of blood inside a blood vessel.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

COLUMBUS—A new color motif will be used in the 1941 Ohio automobile license tags instead of the blue and white of recent years. The new tags for 1941 will be white on a maroon background.

FAVOR ENLARGING HIGHWAY PATROL

Bricker Aids See Plan As Superior to Proposed Guard Organization

which would be about $1,200,000 for two years;

A new guard might have to be disbanded after a year if the national guard returned to the state;

Due to their rigid training one patrolman would be worth several guardsmen; and

Always On Duty

The patrolmen, being continuously on duty or available for it, could be mobilized and rushed to the scene of an emergency more quickly than the guardsmen.

The patrol now embraces 200 men and officers, plus radio operators and office personnel. One hundred additional men could be added to the force, trained, equipped and maintained for approximately $250,000 in the first year, an informed person said. Thereafter their salaries would total $192,000 a year.

Expansion of the highway patrol's personnel and authority, however, is almost certain to bring a protest from labor unions which fear the patrol might be used in strikes.

The patrolmen, nevertheless, have won many friends among labor by their efficient and helpful conduct in mine disasters and floods.

LOCK SAYS:
CONSIDER THESE FACTS! In 1937 a national chain (which operates a store in Salem) closed 1,400 stores, yet made $9,000,000 profit. In 1938 they closed 2,400 stores and jumped their profit to $15,800,000. In 1939 they closed a greater number of stores and made 20 million dollars. In 1940 they closed a still greater number of stores and increased their earnings an enormous amount.

What does this mean to you? Millions of workers were put among the unemployed, thousands of store rooms were made vacant. Millions and millions of dollars were put in the control of a few New York financiers. The above figures are just the figures of one national chain. This happened to hundreds of other cities. We ask you: Are they a good thing for our city, state or country?

May we suggest if at all possible, will you place your Saturday order with us on Friday. This will allow us to assemble your order (everything but perishable items) on Friday. LOCK SAYS:
CONSIDER THESE FACTS! In 1937 a national chain (which operates a store in Salem) closed 1,400 stores, yet made $9,000,000 profit. In 1938 they closed 2,400 stores and jumped their profit to $15,800,000. In 1939 they closed a greater number of stores and made 20 million dollars. In 1940 they closed a still greater number of stores and increased their earnings an enormous amount.

What does this mean to you? Millions of workers were put among the unemployed, thousands of store rooms were made vacant. Millions and millions of dollars were put in the control of a few New York financiers. The above figures are just the figures of one national chain. This happened to hundreds of other cities. We ask you: Are they a good thing for our city, state or country?

May we suggest if at all possible, will you place your Saturday order with us on Friday. This will allow us to assemble your order (everything but perishable items) on Friday. Relieving our clerks, the Merchants' Delivery service, and giving prompt delivery on Saturday. We'll appreciate your Saturday orders on Friday!

warfare of this committee being substituted for a discussion of "one of the greatest problems ever to face the nation."

"I object to the word warfare," Bloom shouted.

Mrs. Rogers asked Stimson where he thought the manpower would be obtained to defeat Germany.

Claims Questions Pertinent

Johnson jumped up to object, and as Bloom upheld him, Tinkham shouted:

"In my opinion these questions are pertinent, and I want to make a protest against proceeding against a stacked committee."

Representative Fish (R-NY) demanded that the committee proceed "in order."

"Well, the Democrats are proceeding in order," Bloom shot back. Tempers flared again when Mrs. Rogers sought the secretary's opinion on whether armored forces could be given a separate corps status. Johnson objected.

"Good heavens, aren't we to be given any information on national defense?" Mrs. Rogers shouted, waving her arms.

"At the proper time," Bloom said quietly.

"Good heavens, this is the proper time," Mrs. Rogers contended.

NAZIS THREATEN COSTLY SUB DRIVE

Writer Links Berlin Statement With Stimson Navy Transfer Idea

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Berlin and Washington yesterday produced striking authoritative statements which, while purely coincidental, would seem to be so closely associated in idea as to demand consideration in relation to each other.
One was obtained in an article in Adolf Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter, and therefore stamped with official approval. The other developed in Secretary of War Stimson's testimony before the house foreign affairs committee.
FIRST ITEM: — Hitler's paper said the fuhrer's statement that Germany has plenty of submarines will gain import during the next six months, because American aid for Britain ultimately will be a problem not only of production but of supply.
SECOND ITEM: — Secretary Stimson objected to writing into the lend-lease bill any prohibition against releasing American warships to Britain or any other nation.

Can See Advantages
"I can foresee conditions," he stated, "under which the navy could be transferred under conditions very advantageous."
Now Mr. Stimson didn't specify the conditions under which it might be desirable to make a transfer, and far be it from me to try to read his mind. However, it would be very easy to offer an interpretation which would make his statement a corollary to the claim by Hitler's paper.

The fuhrer's journal in effect threatens that the German submarine offensive will prevent the delivery of American supplies to Britain.
The remark that American aid will be a problem not only of production but of supply is a long-headed observation.
Obviously it will avail little in the way of help for Britain if we produce mountains of supplies and they can't be delivered.
Should the British be unable to cope with this menace, there inevitably must arrive a moment of grave crisis for the little island kingdom.

Not the Whole Picture
But that isn't the whole picture. Hitler is waging a dual offensive on this front in an effort to win the battle of Britain and thus clinch the war. The submarine drive is one half of it. His terrific assault by air is the other.
Britain's problem is to counter these offensives in time.
Should Hitler be able to unleash a further pack of U-boats, England's need of warships will increase.
I said in this column recently that if the British ever felt driven to call on us for more aid than we already have proffered, it likely would be a plea for warships.

That is why one wonders whether Secretary Stimson might have had something of the sort in mind.

REPORTS FINDING NAZI HAITI BASE

Ohioan says He Spotted Secret German Airport In Bahamas

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 17 — A Canadian press correspondent at Nassau, the Bahamas, reported today that William Alexander Simms of Dayton, Ohio, had told him of finding a secret German air base in Haiti.
According to the dispatch, Simms arrived at Nassau yesterday with his wife after a three-week tour of the West Indies in a private plane and reported discovery of the airport as a chance aerial observation.
It said Simms told of mentioning his discovery casually to a hotel manager at Port Au Prince, Haiti, and of learning from him later that the Haitian government had intervened and dispossessed the Germans.
The location given for the reported airport, near Gonaves, Haiti, is only about 160 miles airline from Guantanamo, United States base on the coast of south-east Cuba.
In Washington, however, officials of the state and navy departments occurred in the Gulf of Siam, where the Thai ships were said to have been firing on a French patrol plane. The size and classification of the ships were not stated.

"Several" French units participated. It is doubtful if any French naval units larger than destroyers remain in Asiatic waters. The Thai navy has four cruisers and 14 destroyers. Most of these were built in Japan or Italy.)

Only a Sale Desert
On his arrival at Port Au Prince, the Canadian press report said, quoting Simms, he complimented the hotel manager on the fine airport being built and the manager replied that as far as he knew the site in question was only a salt desert.
Returning later to the Haitian city, the report continued, Simms was told by the hotel manager that he had reported the conversation to the government and that its investigation had disclosed that during the past year German farmers in the island republic had bought the area in small plots on the pretext of wanting to farm.
"The government," he concluded, "found they had leveled the ground and camouflaged their activities with trees and shrubs erected in boxes."
"The area in question is 18 miles by six. The government informed the Germans they lacked proper title to the land and dispossessed them."

BUSINESS GROUP WILL HOLD DINNER

Columbiana Chamber of Commerce to Hear Washington Man

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 17.—Tickets are on sale for the Chamber of Commerce dinner and business session to be held Monday evening in the K. of P. hall. Officers will be elected and there will be an address by E. C. Ramsey, Washington, D. C., former foreign newspaper correspondent, who addressed the local high school student body several weeks ago.

Mr. Ramsey has met Mussolini, Hitler and many other European notables, spent two days with the refugees in Belgium and northern France and witnessed the fall of Paris. Regular Monday evening meetings of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will be merged with this assembly.

Mid-year examinations are being held this week in the Columbiana schools, although many students are absent with colds. Coach A. Beach hopes to have his team at full strength tonight against Lisbon in the opening Tri-County league game for the Red and White. Patchen and Hively were absent for several days, but rejoined the squad Wednesday. The McDonald game scheduled here Saturday night has been postponed at the request of the Trumbull county officials.

Four new members were received when the Columbiana Music Study club met Wednesday evening. They are Mrs. Maurice Michaud, Miss York of New Waterford, Miss Phaw and Mrs. Jacob Hubert of North Lima. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Maurer, with Mrs. Robert Maurer as hostess.

Roll call was responded to by current musical events. Mrs. R. J. Barrow presided at the business meeting. Mrs. W. E. Clendenin of North Lima had charge of the choral work. Mrs. R. E. Weaver presented part of a book review, "A Little Night Music," by Johnson. Lunch was served. The next meeting will be in two weeks.

WARN DOG OWNERS TO GET LICENSES

LISBON, Jan. 17.—Dog owners in Columbiana county were warned today by Dog Warden Daniel Butch to procure licenses immediately or face prosecution when the check-up on unlicensed canines begins. Due to the tremendous cost to the county as a result of rabies, no leniency will be shown any persons found owning or harboring an unlicensed dog over three months old. Butch stated.

With less than two days to go before the deadline Monday there are still approximately 4,800 unlicensed dogs in the county, according to figures in the office of County Auditor Ross Tisher, which show approximately 3,000 tags issued at the close of business on Thursday.

Wide-Awake City

LOUP CITY, Neb.—Ever have your alarm clock get you out of bed two hours early?

Every Holiday On Monday-- Plan Of Ohio Legislator

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Jan. 17.—Rep. Joseph C. Nailor (R-Franklin) snapped his fingers at astronomy, tradition and ecclesiastical rules today and asked the Ohio legislature to make all legal holidays—except New Year's—fall on Monday.

His proposed legislation is intended to expand the time for holiday observances by tying them to the weekend.

His measure was only one of 31 bills offered in the house and senate as leaders opened the gates to free introduction of legislative proposals.

Here is how Nailor would switch the holidays:

Christmas (Dec. 25) would fall on the third Monday in December; Easter, customarily the first Sunday after the full moon following the vernal equinox, would be pegged for the second Sunday of April;

Independence day (July 4) would become the first Monday in July;

Washington's birthday (Feb. 22) and Lincoln's birthday (Feb. 12) would be combined into the second Monday in February.

Thanksgiving day—the third Monday in November.

It is the privilege of a legislator to introduce any bill he likes, as long as it is within the bounds of propriety and decency. The reference committees, however, decide which ones should be printed and given serious consideration.

Other Bills

Among the other bills introduced were:

Extend until March 31, 1943, the tax of two cents on each package of 20 cigarettes;

Increase the local governments annual share of the sales tax from $12,000,000 to $17,000,000;

Establish pre-primary conventions at which parties could endorse states of candidates;

Remove the administration of old age pensions from the welfare department and vest the authority in a council of five members on salaries of $2,000 a year;

Require school boards to sign both limited and indefinite term contracts with teachers;

Create a 23rd congressional district composed of portions of Cuyahoga county and all of Lorain, Medina, Lake, Geauga and Ash-tabula counties;

Abolish central counting of ballots, which has proved unsuccessful in Hamilton county;

Prohibit county auditors from assessing for taxation personal property for the years prior to 1932;

Bar Communists from the ballot and withhold funds from state universities which do not suppress un-American activities on their campus;

Your electric service is a bargain every day. Prove it yourself! First, count the various jobs it does in your home—lighting, washing, ironing, refrigeration, cooking, cleaning, and so on.

Then take your electric bill, divide it by 30 and see what it actually costs you each day for the many comforts, conveniences and services you enjoy. You'll be surprised!

Your electric service was never cheaper. Enjoy full use of it during 1941, for better and more comfortable living.

Wallace, In Final Farm Report, Foresees Changes In Program

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Henry A. Wallace, in his last report as secretary of agriculture, said today that the war's impact on American agriculture may require additional "large-scale" shifts in crop production and an overhauling of the New Deal farm programs.

With foreign markets impaired by economic nationalism, increased competition and finally the war, the vice-president-elect said that farmers will have to think anew about making further reduction in acreage of cotton, wheat, tobacco and other products which formerly found outlets abroad.

"Growing unneeded crops is sheer waste of labor, of capital, and of soil, even if temporarily the products can go into storage under government loans," Wallace's final annual report said.

Covering the 12-month period prior to Wallace's resignation in September as secretary of agriculture, the report said federal farm programs may have to "put more emphasis on shifting entire enterprises or systems of farming in certain areas or regions," and added:

Adjusted to Markets
"Collectively and individually farmers with suitable federal aid, should do all they can to adjust their output to the actually available market."

In the setting created by the war we may have to overhaul our farm-price-adjustment policy. Exactly what new shape it will require, we do not yet know. Everything is in flux, on so great a scale, that it would be idle to propose details.

Wallace said, however, that future price policies may require differentials between export prices and domestic prices, and between the cost of farm commodities to the ordinary consumer and the cost to the person on relief.

The situation requires, he continued, separation of surplus production from the rest of the supply and disposal of the surplus in some special manner. He indicated that he continued to favor, for some products, the so-called "certificate plan" of boosting grower income from that portion of crops consumed in this country while permitting prices to adjust themselves at levels which would permit the surplus to compete favorably in world markets.

Under this plan, the government would allot marketing certificates to farmers who cooperated with crop control programs. Manufacturers would be required to buy these certificates. These certificates, which would cover each farmer's share of the domestic market, would be valued at the difference between the market price and the parity price. This plan, he said, would be in effect as processing tax.

Adaptability Is Cited
Wallace viewed the certificate method as readily adaptable to products which pass through centralized manufacturing or marketing processes, such as cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts, prunes, raisins and tobacco. In the case of corn and other feed crops, only a small portion of which are processed, other methods would have to be used, he said, suggesting price-supporting

Stimson Is Lease-Lend Witness

Declaring that the situation facing the U. S. "is much more acute and dangerous than in 1917" and warning that defeat of the British navy would undoubtedly subject the U. S. to the dangers of invasion by air, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson is pictured appearing before the house foreign affairs committee on the lease-lend bill.

County Women Plan Kitchen Programs

LISBON, Jan. 17.—Miss Erma Ramseyer, county home demonstration agent, has announced the scheduling of three additional "kitchen improvement" project meetings for next week. The meetings are open to all women of the community, with the discussions lasting from 10:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. with a coverdinner at noon. Each lady is requested to bring a coverdinner, sandwiches and table service.

The first meeting next week will be held in the home of Mrs. C. R. Hammond in Madison township on Tuesday. The second meeting on Thursday will be able to "rush back into full competitive production," adding:

"As far as we can see ahead we shall have need for concerted crop adjustment, soil conservation, sub-marginal-land retirements, land-ture reforms, aids in rehabilitating the rural poor, surplus-disposal machinery, and devices of one kind or another for maintaining domestic farm prices above world prices.

"We are going to have more need for science in agriculture, more need of large-scale crop shifts, more need of aids for rural dispossessed, more need of strenuous efforts to enlarge and improve the domestic market."

Agriculture, Wallace said, has "laid the basis in production planning which other branches of the national economy may have to copy."

The President too had been questioned concerning the newspaper story.

How About Germany Navy

He said, in reply, he supposed congress might authorize him to acquire the German navy, too, and asked whether newsmen did not think the discussion was awfully awfully cow - jump-over-the-moon business.

At first he misinterpreted the inquiry to understand the press was asking for comment on the possibility of disposing of the navy to Britain.

Talking on that matter, he remarked somewhat sarcastically that nothing in the bill would prohibit his doing what might be a dangerous thing—standing on his head. But he added with a chuckle that the President of the United States does not expect to stand on his head, has no desire to do so and similarly has no desire to get rid of the navy.

He was asked whether, since he did not intend to make any transfer of the fleet, he would have any objections to a restriction in the measure on such a transfer. Sarcasmically, the chief executive said he supposed we had better put in also a prohibition on his standing on his head.

"TRIAL WITHOUT JURY"

By JAMES RONALD

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR
Dr. Denham went into his office and took a case from the corner. He hesitated, stroking his lower lip thoughtfully. Suddenly he lifted the telephone receiver.

"County police headquarters?" he said, when the call was answered. "This is Dr. Denham of Lakelawn. Inspector Burrows? I—I—The Osborne may be dying. . . . No, she didn't say anything so suggest foul play, but her manner. . . . Yes, that's what I thought. . . . I wasn't sure, but I thought you might. . . . You're coming at once? Very well."

The impression of something much worse than serious illness, which Dr. Denham had received from Hannah, was confirmed almost as soon as he entered Edith Osborne's room. His lips tightened; his eyes grew stern.

He looked up and met Hannah's horrified gaze. "Is she—Is she—?" "Downstairs," he said quietly. "Get me a tablespoon of mustard in a tumbler of lukewarm water. Hurry, woman, hurry!"

Hannah was gone before the last words were uttered. In an incredibly short time she was back, with the tumbler in her hand. Dr. Denham was bending over her employer. A hypodermic syringe gleamed in his steady fingers.

"Bring hot water bottles," he said, taking the glass without looking at Hannah, "and all the blankets you can find."

For some minutes the doctor and Hannah were too busy to think. When at last the doctor stood back from the bed, Hannah clutched his arm desperately.

"Will she live? Oh, Doctor, will she live?" "I'm afraid not. She has only about one chance in a hundred."

Hannah broke down and wept, her hoarse sobs shaking her great frame. "For heaven's sake, don't do that!" the doctor said irritably. "Who else is in the house?"

"Only Mr. Osborne. Oh, but he went out."

The Sheriff looked inquiringly at Doctor Denham.

"She isn't dead," said the doctor hoarsely. "But I'm afraid there's no hope for her. She has taken—or been given—poison. Strychnine."

"There's something else," responded Black keenly. "I can see it in your face."

"Yes, I'm afraid there is something else," agreed the doctor shakily. Some months ago, Stephen Osborne was run down and I—I prescribed strychnine."

The Sheriff took the stairs two at a time, followed by the others. He looked at the limp form of Edith Osborne, swathed in blankets, and his expression grew grim. Inspector Burrows frowned about the bed.

"No glass, Sheriff," he said meaningly. "That isn't conclusive. She might not have used a glass. Was there a bottle on the bed or the floor, Doctor?"

"That was the first thing I looked for. There was no bottle."

The Inspector crawled under the bed and came out empty-handed. "Nothing doing, sir."

Sergeant Feathers was kneeling by the hearth, rummaging in the fireplace. "What are you doing, man?" demanded the Sheriff.

The young Sergeant silently exhibited a heap of burned paper which he had removed from the grate and placed carefully on a handkerchief.

"Might be a clue here, Sheriff," he said after a significant pause. Black nodded. Then frowned.

"Can you tell me how long ago the poison was administered?" "Not more than a few minutes before I was called in; and that was a quarter of an hour ago," said Doctor Denham.

"Er—the maid tells me that only she and Mr. Osborne have been at home this afternoon."

"Oh? And where is Osborne now?" "He was here a few minutes ago. I think he went out to the garden."

From a window Sheriff Black noticed a woman in animated conversation with the policeman he had left at the gate.

"That Whipple woman is downstairs," he said irritably. "She seems to want to come in. Run down, Feathers, and find out what's on her mind."

In a few minutes Sergeant Feathers returned.

"She's been using her telescope again, sir. Says a while ago she saw Stephen Osborne diggin' a hole in the far corner of the garden and hidin' something in it."

Inspector Burrows uttered a triumphant exclamation. "I always said Osborne's our—"

"Sergeant Feathers!" interjected Black.

"Strychnine, Doctor?" asked Black quietly.

The doctor sniffed the glass. "Strychnine," he agreed.

"There are fingerprints on both. Sheriff," said Sergeant Feathers. "If you'll give me a minute—"

"Go ahead."

The Sergeant dusted black powder on glass and bottle; then examined them through a magnifying glass.

"Osborne's" he said at last. "We'd better find him quickly. You'd better come along, Doctor, in case. . . ."

They had not far to look. They came upon Stephen Osborne in the field behind the house, standing beside the chattering stream that wandered merrily through it. There was a razor in his hand, but they did not give him time to use it.

After overpowering him, Inspector Burrows warned him that anything he said might be used in evidence at his trial.

Stephen looked at him with the eyes of a dead man.

"I did it," he said simply.

Life for us both. I poisoned my wife with strychnine and was about to end my own existence when I was apprehended by the police.

(Signed) Stephen Osborne. "Poor devil!" murmured the doctor sadly. "They were a charming couple, devoted to each other. The faithful unto death sort. Ah, well! I—I suppose he'll hang?"

"No doubt of it!"

"Did you suspect him all along of the first murder?"

"No," the Sheriff admitted. "I didn't. Confidentially, I suspected his cousin, Simon Osborne. We all had our pet theories and no two were alike. Only Burrows suspected Stephen Osborne; he did from the start."

Rudibaugh's Down Sanitary Quint To Swing Into Class A Lead

TWO FIELD GOALS GIVE FORMER HIGH STARS GAME, 44-40

Jeffries, Nedelka In Point Battle, Former with 15, Latter with 14

The hard-driving Rudibaugh Schoons of the Class A basketball circuit today held undisputed possession of first place in the Memorial building league as a result of their close victory over the National Sanitary combine last night. The final count was 44 to 40.

The standings today give the Rudibaugh's only one defeat as against two for the Sanitary and an equal number for the Althouse Meters, the league's third front-runners.

Two field goals provided the margin of victory for the former High school stars. The Rudibaugh's collected 20, the Tubmakers 18 and in virtually every other respect the battle was pretty even.

Tom Nedelka went on a scoring rampage for the winners last night, bagging seven buckets for a 14 total count.

His efforts were more than matched by big Bob Jeffries of the Sanitary who collected an equal number of field goals, plus a lone foul for a total of 15 points. John Pukalski of the Sanitary was right up there in the scoring, too, with six two-pointers.

The Presbyterians forfeited to the Clowns in the Class B circuit while the No. 2 Rudibaugh quint recorded a 27-24 conquest over the Phalanx.

Expansion

OLYMPIA, Wash.—The 24½-acre tract Mrs. Laura Crites bought years ago proved a mighty good investment.

Her property boundary—the Chehalis river—moved. When she sold out, the tract had grown to 41½ acres.

BOWLING RESULTS

Commercial league play was featured last night by the performance of Earl Grate rolling for the Polo Club, who chalked up 224, 203, 214 games for a new individual high three-game total of 641. Even with the aid of this excellent score, the Polo keggers dropped two out of three to the up and coming People's Lumber five at the Grate alleys.

There was plenty of fireworks in the first division and when the smoke had cleared away the Washingtonville I. O. O. F. was in second place and Smith's Creamery, People's Lumber, and the Palace Lunch were tied for third place honors.

The Washingtonville crew took two out of three from Zimmerman's Oldsmobiles. H. Spear marked up a 236 in his third game to finish with a 623 total.

The Palace Lunch dumped the Creamery in all three games while the Jaycee All-Stars handed Hilliard's the same medicine.

The Trades Class pushed the Leetonia Eagles deeper into the cellar position by winning three straight.

The Purchasing Department cut the Electricians' first place lead in the Electric Furnace loop to two percentage points last night at the Mascine alleys, winning two out of three.

The Draftsmen strengthened their third place position, sweeping all three frames from the Machinists.

The Office five took two out of three from the Shippers while the Transformers gained a similar decision over the Structural Department.

KENYON UPSETS CAPITAL, 54-40, IN LOOP CONTEST

Marietta Whips Flu-Stricken Findlay, 43-38; Kent Tops Hiram, 49-25

Capital university must wait at least until next Tuesday to shake a jinx that has followed its basketball team all season.

Capital scored 50 points last night—enough to win lots of ball games—but Kenyon college made 54 and downed the Lutherans for the seventh straight time. Capital goes to Ashland next Tuesday for another chance at its first victory.

The Lutherans led until the last four minutes of the game at Columbus, but then Center Berno of Kenyon cut loose with some long shots and the upstate boys went ahead to their winning margin. It was Kenyon's first Ohio conference win against one defeat.

In the other conference game last night Marietta kept its record intact by whipping a flu-stricken Findlay college team, 43-38. Findlay sorely felt the loss of their high-scoring forward, Kenneth Zuercher, who was able to play only a short time because of a recent illness.

Although Findlay was in the lead, 38-37, with only two minutes to go, Fred Dunlay, Marietta forward, pulled the game out of the fire for the Ohio river team with two quick goals.

Ted Roan, Marietta forward, had 18 points to pace the scoring. Kent State substitutes played nearly the whole game as Kent easily defeated a Hiram college five, 49 to 25. It was Kent's sixth victory against two losses for the season, while Hiram has lost four with no wins.

Ohio Northern postponed until Jan. 28 or Feb. 6 tomorrow night's conference game with Ashland college because of influenza.

Tonight's schedule: Case at Western Reserve, Baldwin Wallace at John Carroll; Youngstown at St. Bonaventure, West Virginia at Cincinnati, Western Michigan State at Miami, DeSales at Lawrence Tech, Alliance at Chippewy, Marshall at Xavier, and Morehead at Rio Grande.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Dick Chapman, the amateur golf champ, may beat Hank Greenberg into the army. . . . Fritz Zivic has bet $500 against $700 he beats Henry Armstrong tonight. . . . Armstrong is the favorite, but a lot of folks are wondering why he changed overnight from a slugging, boring-in-stalker to a stand-up straight boxer. . . . The American league's film, "Batting Around the American League," was unveiled here yesterday under the personal direction of Prof. Lew Fonseca. (Four stars) . . . Football Giants have signed articles to return to Superior, Wis. for their pre-season training next August.

ARMSTRONG, ZIVIC FIGHT FOR TITLE
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The largest crowd of the indoor fight season, possibly 18,000, is expected to watch Henry Armstrong try to take his welterweight title back from Fritz Zivic tonight in Madison Square Garden.

This will be Henry's first scrap since he went down to unexpected defeat by Zivic last October, and it is tonight or never for the busy little negro who not so long ago held three championships simultaneously. If Zivic trounces him again, then it's adios to one of the greatest of modern fighting men.

COLUMBIANA BOY SPARKS BUCKEYE BASKETBALL TEAM

Dick Fisher Has Helped Ohio State to Top of Big Ten Standings

COLUMBUS, Jan. 17.—The "Columbian Clipper" is really clicking.

And a couple of breaks gave Richard Wilson Fisher, who hails from Columbiana, his chance to click as a football and basketball star at Ohio State.

The first one came last fall when Halback James Strausbaugh injured an ankle in football practice and Dick was called upon to fill Strausbaugh's speedy shoes. This he did in better than acceptable fashion until he suffered a shoulder separation in the Minnesota game.

Then came basketball time and Fisher, getting a late start in practice because of football, didn't look so good and saw little action in the first four games.

Earns Starting Berth
But Fisher's aggressive play against Pittsburgh—as Ohio dropped its fourth game in a row—earned him a starting berth when Creighton came to town Jan. 2, and Dick came through with 13 points in pacing the Bucks to an upset victory.

Since then as a fast-breaking, sharp-shooting forward he's been one of the mainstays of the rejuvenated play that has carried Ohio State to the top of the Western conference standings. He stands fourth in the conference scoring race.

Five feet, eleven inches in height and weighing 185 pounds, Fisher is a tough man to get around on the basketball court and his defensive play continues to improve.

Coach Harold G. Olsen said that while no positions were "clinched" on the cage squad, "it will take an awful lot of playing by someone to get Fisher out of there."

Flu Tosses Brown, But Aids Carry On
COLUMBUS, Jan. 17.—Paul Brown, new Ohio State football coach, was confined to his home in Massillon with influenza and unable to make a scheduled appointment before the Columbus Downtown Quarterback club last night, but his assistants carried on.

The three men who have helped Brown produce Massillon High school's "wonder teams" made it clear that they were not at all certain of following their boss to his new job.

Said Assistant Coach Hugh E. McGrath: "Our being here has absolutely no significance in Ohio State's assistant coaching situation. Brown has made no commitments to us, but if the university wants any of us, we'll be tickled to death to come."

Said Assistant Coach Fred K. Heisler: "Brown is the only reason for Massillon's success in scholastic football. Paul is the works. He makes things go."

Assistant Coach Carroll Widows showed pictures of last year's Massillon team in action against Wierston, Steubenville and Canton McKinley, in which Tom James, fleet back, ran rings around the rival teams.

When the pictures were over James was introduced. "You being members of the quarterback club in one voice: "Where are you going to college?"

Mascot Dead

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 17.—Pete the penguin, Youngstown college mascot that gave the school's athletic teams their name, is dead, but it won't be lost to the college.

The bird, brought from Antarctica by Admiral Richard E. Byrd, will be stuffed for preservation.

Ernie Lombardi Of Champs Is Making Holdout Noises But Club Leaders Are Calm

No Formal Notice Filed With Club Yet; Baseball Observers Believe Differences, If Any, Can Easily Be Worked Out

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, Jan. 17.—For those daff folks who take things at their face value, an early word of encouragement about the second annual Ernie Lombardi situation may be fitting.

Ernie has provided the baseball world with some preliminary holdout thoughts by announcing from the shores of the Pacific ocean, where he keeps in condition by seining driftwood, that the proffered 1941 contract for his services with the Cincinnati Reds is slightly unsatisfactory.

This has a familiar ring. Last year the big catcher did the same thing, though for different reasons. Then he was on the downsizing after his unhappy accident in the 1939 world series—widely and unfeelingly described as "Ernie's swan dive"—and a few scattered tomatoes were beating for his scalp.

Yet in the early days of March, Ernie rumbled into camp, blew on his writing hand, and signed up. Such differences as may exist this year should be easily compromised to the mutual advantage of the champions of all baseball and their No. 1 catcher.

To Perkins' Post?

A. F. Whitney

Will A. F. Whitney of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, be selected to succeed Frances Perkins as secretary of labor? Such is the report in Washington as rumors persist that Miss Perkins will resign from the cabinet.

Theatre Attractions

A comedy that has everything, including Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas, to make it hit fare, is "This Thing Called Love," a comedy of modern marriage, showing at the State tonight and Saturday.

It's a toss-up between the two stars for acting honors, but a shade more deftness, a bit more enthusiasm on Miss Russell's part should give her the plum. As a young wife who feels that their marriage should be one in name only for three months—to see whether they are really meant for each other—Miss Russell starts the plot on its merry way.

Douglas, just home from five years of practical exile on a South American mining expedition, finds his lovely wife unwilling to impress a Latin mining client with "a big family." Agreeing to her plan of marriage because he is sure his charms will prove irresistible before long, he finds he has to have help to change his wife's mind.

It is unfortunate for his peace of mind and fortunate for the comedy's final score that he chooses two blondes, Binnie Barnes and Gloria Dickson, to assist him. The cast also includes Lee J. Cobb, Ailyn Joslyn and Gloria Holden.

The dialogue is bright, the pace is fast and furious.

At the Grand tonight and Saturday are the Three Mesquiteers, Robert Livingston, Bob Steele and Rufe Davis, in "Under Texas Skies."
